

Trio Homeowners Association Management is a HOA management company who found Project 1000 online in early 2015. After calling in with questions to find out if Project 1000 could handle their full project for a reasonable price, Trio decided to come in for a meeting to discuss more.

After a successful meeting, Trio hired Project 1000 to handle their branding and website needs.

Project 1000 worked hard with Trio to get their logo design together along with their website. Trio was pleased with the outcome of their website and worked closely with Project 1000 after to learn how their website was operated on the backend. The end result was a crafty-designed company brand, professional website, and a mobile-friendly website. Project 1000 now maintains Trio's site as well as their branding needs.

Client Testimonial

"As a new company we had a low budget and lots of ideas for our website. Although we did not want the traditional designs or a template to choose from.

I love the website and my favorite aspect of it is our home page with the scroll of our communities!

Project 1000 services since then has been great and we have recommended others to Project 1000 for their services. We are proud of our website!"
